

COVINGTON JAIL IS EMPTIED EARLY TUESDAY MORNING

Thirteen Prisoners escape From Covington Jail Trough Sawing the Bars—Murderer and Bank Robber in Crowd.

Sawing their way through the bars in the basement windows all of the thirteen prisoners in the Covington jail made their escape early last night before any of the police force knew of the delivery. Just as the last one of the prisoners was making his getaway the whole delivery was discovered and the police gave chase to the escaping prisoners, who were seen running over the Fourth street bridge toward Newport.

Among the men to escape was Mike Ward, convicted for manslaughter on last Friday and sentenced to serve six years in the penitentiary. Camillus Terlau, held in the jail on a charge of bank robbery in connection with the robbery of the Walton Savings and Deposit Bank, Walton, Ky., on December 14, 1920, also gained his liberty. When Terlau was arrested recently more than $650 in bonds were found in one of his socks, and these are said to be a part of the $40,000 "haul" that was made in the Walton robbery.

Discovery of the delivery was made by Ben Bledenharn, night turnkey, at the jail, when he went into the main room of the building, where prisoners are kept during the day, to lock the men up for the night. This is done ordinarily at 8:30 o'clock, and when the turnkey went into the room he found it deserted.

Hearing a noise in the open dummy elevator which leads from the second floor to the basement, Bledenharn ran to the shaft and looked down. In the dim light at the bottom of it he caught a glimpse of the last prisoner disappearing from sight. Bars that had guarded the entrance to the dummy elevator had been sawed off flush with the wood so that only an opening large enough for food to be passed through was left.

The turnkey gave the alarm and rushed down into the basement with part of the officers on duty while the rest of the policemen ran into the street, hoping to head off the fugitives. But they were too late. The delivery had been well planned and those who went into the basement expecting to find the prisoners, discovered nothing but an open window with the bars neatly cut out.

FARM BUREAU MEMBERSHIP IS DOUBLED ON TUESDAY

Campaigners Successful in Tuesday's Canvass—Outlook for Big Organization Is Bright.

Officers and members of the Mason County Farm Bureau who canvassed parts of the county yesterday in an effort to increase the membership of that organization were quite successful according to an announcement made at the headquarters here today.

Although there were but four teams working the first day's list of fifty members was doubled on the second day and the officers are very much encouraged expecting to keep up this average throughout the entire week if weather conditions do not seriously interfere.

The meeting at Mayslick last night was addressed by Mr. Geoffrey Morgan was a very successful one and the farmers attending were very much pleased. Another such meeting will be held at Minerva this evening at 7 o'clock and all farmers in that section are urged to attend.

Billy Sunday Accepts Invitation and Will Come to Maysville

BILLY SUNDAY

Billy Sunday is coming to Maysville.

Rev. John A. Davis, pastor of the First Baptist church, held a conference with the famous evangelist and his managers in Mr. Sunday's apartment at the Sinton Hotel this morning and obtained the evangelist's promise to come to Maysville for a day during his stay in Cincinnati. The date could not be fixed but Mr. Davis, manager for Mr. Sunday, said he would make the matter up immediately and would fix a date just as soon as possible.

Several weeks ago Mr. Davis, learning that Mr. Sunday most generally spent his Mondays in towns nearby the city in which he was holding a meeting, took the matter of bringing him to Maysville up with three members of the Cincinnati committee who were Mr. Davis' personal friends. Other local people became interested and the matter was brought before the local pastors' conference on last Monday. All of the local pastors joining in a pressing invitation to Mr. Sunday.

Mayor Russell and other city officials, also extended hearty invitations to the famous preacher and Rev. Mr. Davis was loaded with documents to show Mr. Sunday and his managers that he would be right welcome to Maysville.

Always anxious to have a part in every good thing for Maysville Colonel J. Barbour Russell yesterday wrote Mr. Sunday a long letter which he sent by special delivery, urging him to come to Maysville. The Colonel, of course, told Billy all about the famous Maysville Boys' Band and assured him that the band would meet him at the train and give him several concerts while here.

Mr. Davis' telegram received this afternoon simply says: "Saw Billy Sunday and he will gladly come. Time not set but will let us know the date soon. JOHN A. DAVIS."

The local pastor is expected home this evening and arrangements will be started at once to prepare for one of the greatest religious gatherings Maysville has ever known. The big problem will be to house the people who will be anxious to hear this, the greatest evangelist preacher of the age. These matters will be worked out by the local ministers in co-operation with the city officials.

Maysville people are to be congratulated upon this opportunity to hear the famous "Billy" and all those who had a part in inducing him to spend a day here are to be congratulated upon their success and thanked.

TOBACCO REMAINS STEADY.

Sales were held today at the Farmers, Peoples and Growers warehouses and reports from these houses are to the effect that the market remains about steady with no improvement being shown. A good rush of tobacco is expected within the next few days on the local market as the weather is now good for the handling of the weed.

AUTO DRIVER FLOURISHES GEN.

The Fleming Gazette says: "In police court Friday W. T. Shields, the Sherburne truck driver, was fined $100 and costs for flourishing a revolver on the streets here the day before. Shields, it will be remembered, was threatened by night riders some weeks ago over the tobacco business, and it is claimed had been advised to go armed. E. P. Davis, of Locust neighborhood claims Shields drew a gun and threatened to shoot him, apparently being under the influence of liquor. After the trial Shields declared he would throw the weapon into Licking River."

PLANNING FOR NEXT SEASON'S BAND CONTRACTS

Already Work Has Been Started at Planning Schedule For Band During the Summer of 1922.

The following letter from Mr. Frank H. Miller, of Knoxville, Tenn., to Col. J. Barbour Russell, of the Boys' Band, is self explanatory:

"Dear Barbour: — I am inclosing Secretary Buckner's letter to me as in reply to my letter regarding the Maysville Boys' Band. You will note that I was mistaken in the number of weeks of this engagement. Eleven weeks, instead of sixteen.

"Since you don't have the time for this year, I have thought it would be well for you to give me an idea about the number of pieces your instructor would suggest for a band for this Asheville occasion. In the mean time I will find out more about the Roy Smith Band, the number of pieces, and the information necessary to work on for next season.

"I learned from the secretary here that arrangements have been made for the same band this year that they had last, thus leaving us to keep posted in the mean time for the work next year.

"Barbour, with the advancement the band should make with this year's work, I can not but believe we can secure both Asheville and Knoxville for next season. Eleven or twelve weeks in stead of sixteen will help out for both.

"We are to suppose that the Royal Highlanders Band made a charge of so much a week, judging by the way Buckner put his question.

"Best wishes to all my old Maysville friends."

THE PASSING OF BURLESON.

We assume there is no possibility of the New York Call obtaining any judgment against Albert Sidney Burleson, ex-Postmaster General, in the suit for $500,000 damages filed by that newspaper against that ex-official. But the effect of the filing of that suit may be beneficial.

Narrow of view, dictatorial by temperament, insolent of manner, impervious to public opinion, Albert Sidney Burleson was one of the very greatest handicaps the Democratic administration had to carry. Inefficient as an organizer, inept in his diagnosis of the needs of the department of which he was the head, he rendered most notable disservice to his party and to the people.

His appointment as Postmaster General was a mistake—his retention inexplicable, and there are few who will regret the announcement that he will be compelled to defend in court some of his actions in an official capacity.

The success of the campaign of hate organized by Will Hays resulted in the rejection of the Treaty of Peace, the refusal of the United States to enter the League of Nations, the overwhelming defeat of the Democratic party. One of the most telling weapons used in that campaign was the narrowness and inefficiency of the Postmaster General, who insisted on remaining a member of the cabinet.

When the history of Woodrow Wilson comes to be written, credit will be given for his great intellect, his marvelous power of expression, his capacity for leadership; but the impartial historian will record and regret his judgment of men, his inability to acknowledge a mistake.

No man may question that Woodrow Wilson understood the deepest emotions of men, gave voice to the loftiest aspirations of humanity, promoted thought on the highest plane. It is a profound tragedy that the full effect of these noble qualities should have been so largely negated by the ill effect of the men whom he appointed to office and entrusted with the great power of high position.

One of the aspects of that tragedy is that in the days to come Burleson, and others who, like Burleson, failed to measure up to the requirements of their positions, will be forgotten and effect of their failure will not be taken into consideration in measuring the effect of the campaign of hate.

The Herald can wish for Mr. Burleson's successor no greater triumph than that he will be as apt, as efficient and as energetic in reorganizing the Postal Service as he was in organizing and directing the campaign of hate.—Lexington Herald.

"ASPERITIES FORGOTTEN."

Dayton, Ohio, March 4.—Ex-Governor James M. Cox's newspaper, The News, editorially says today, in comment upon the inauguration of Warren G. Harding as President:

"There is something solemnly impressive about the inauguration of a new President. Its underlying significance is the deep-rooted respect held by the great mass of the people for our institutions of government. In the Presidency of the United States inheres more authority than in any station in the world. It inspires the ambitions of man and the intensive efforts of political parties, and yet when the mandate is rendered at the polls there is general acquiescence in the result.

"In contemplation of the solemn ceremonial at the seat of our government today, the asperities of the campaign are forgotten. People of all classes and creeds accept the formal induction into office of the new President as the constitutional consummation of the public will as expressed November 2.

"The responsibilities of this office are many, and its problems are grave. It goes without saying that the transcendent wish of the new Executive is to promote the welfare of the country. Warren G. Harding is now President of the United States of America. He is our President, and if emergency should arise, he will claim the support of all patriotic citizens. The News extends to him its felicitations and indulges the hope that his term will be tranquil and his labors fruitful of happiness and prosperity for the nation."

UNUSUAL CONDITION

Texas Lady Suffered With Pulling and Aching Pains in Her Back, Which Cardui Relieved.

Houston, Texas.—Mrs. C. D. Cook, of 1912 Whitty Street, this city, recently said: "About four months after my marriage, I . . . began suffering much pain, and knew that my condition was unusual, but couldn't just decide what was wrong. I had to go to bed. . . .

"All across my back and hips were pains, pulling and aching until I could hardly sit up. I stayed in bed a few days. My husband had heard of Cardui . . . so I told him he might get it. After I had taken Cardui a few days, I was up. I took five bottles and haven't been in bed since for this trouble, for I have the least symptoms of this trouble I get Cardui and take it in time.

"I have a number of friends who have used Cardui, and they recommend it very highly."

The experience of this Texas lady is similar to that related by thousands of other women.

Administration Calling for More — Are Not Making Use of Those They Have.

Washington. — Excoriation of the Wilson Administration for its failure to use facilities in its hands for assisting disabled soldiers is made by Representative James V. Good, chairman of the House Appropriations Committee. He says:

"So much has been said in the public press in criticism of Congress with regard to what we have done in providing hospitals for our disabled soldiers of the recent war that I think it might be well to state a few facts in regard to what Congress has done and what the situation is regarding hospitals.

"I do not know why a young man about 26 years old, down in the Treasury Department, an Assistant Secretary of the Treasury, does not send men who are wounded or sick to the hospitals and stop whining about there not being hospital facilities. Certain it is that he is asking for large appropriations to build new hospitals, when he absolutely refuses to send men who are disabled in this war to the best hospitals that money can build.

"Out of an appropriation of $45,000,000 there was allotted to the Board of Managers of the Soldiers' Homes almost $5,000,000 to reconstruct these hospitals. They took the Johnson City hospital in Tennessee, for example, from which the old soldiers of the Civil War and the Spanish-American War were taken and sent to other hospitals. That hospital was rebuilt at an expense of more than $1,000,000 as

FLOUR

New York
Letter
by Lucy Joanne Price

New York.—There is still adventure of the old-time sort in the search for precious stones. It doesn't all take place in the market places of the world. Three young Americans have just set forth from New York on such a journey, difficult enough to satisfy the writers—and readers—of the Jules Verne period. Diamonds in British Guiana are the object of the search, and they believe they will find whole big deposits of them on the side of the Sierra Pacaraima Mountains, (wherever they may be!) William J. LaVarre, a recent Harvard graduate, is the head of the party and with him are James MacDonald, of Lima, Ohio, and Dudley Lewis, of Springfield, Mass. At Georgetown, the capital of British Guiana, they will board a canoe houseboat, and begin a long journey up the Essequibo River, going for beyond the white men's region. The district they are headed for has been known for years as a rich diamond field, but the difficulty of reaching it and the prevalence of tropical diseases has discouraged prospecting.

The first man to be granted citizenship who is unable to sign his own name, has just received his papers. It is Joseph McCready, of New York, who has been blind from birth. He mastered the typewriter, however, and because of this the federal authorities have made him the first exception to the hitherto unbroken law.

There is one question of army or navy supremacy which will not have to be fought out by Congress; the matter of which force owns the air. The U. S. Navy decided that matter all by itself the other day right here, and decided it in favor of the Navy. A National Guard unit was drilling in W. 66th street under orders issued over a wireless phone. Everything was going beautifully when a harsh buzz came through the receiving set horn. Harry Fuller, in charge, then announced that the Brooklyn Navy Yard had cut in saying that the drill would have to be suspended. "We have the right of way over this air and have no time for freak exhibitions," the navy wireless. "The navy owns the air, I guess," Mr. Fuller decided. So the drills were stopped.

The white tuxedo has been wished upon the men of the country by the tailor's fashion show for men being held here this week. It was conceded that for the man who had lived a life of ease and good food a broad expanse of white might show up his bulk a trifle more than his good safe old black coat, but it's no more than fair for him to learn some of the trials that fashion means to womankind. And white his dinner coat shall be!

Artificial eyelashes! It's extremely difficult, in fact wellnigh impossible, to write or talk or look about New York just at present without fashion shows of one kind or another looming large and brilliant on one's horizon. But nothing either large or brilliant has made quite the sensation among the ordinary mortals in attendance as have the artificial eyelashes. Some ambitious girl evidently got up some quite morning and said, "What CAN I do next to doll up my looks? Everything's been done, I'd say, and I don't look so VERY different yet. Ah! My eyelashes! They're perfectly natural. No wonder I look just like a human being in spite of all my efforts. I'll have me some false ones." Then and there the model was born. And they had a whole booth devoted to them at the Revue de Fashion.

An unprecedented longing for early American furniture has broken out in this part of the country, and probably everywhere else. Never had such crowds gathered for the buying of it as those which gathered the other day at the American Art galleries at a sale of a good collection. And never were such prices paid. An American made mahogany lowboy brought $2,000—and not from a haddist with more money to spend than she knew what to do with, either, but from an agent, who bought it to sell at a still higher price. A gilt and mahogany mirror of 1735 brought $950.

HEALTH THE KEYNOTE TO BEAUTY.

Beauty means so much to women—power, social triumph, admiration and love. Beauty implies good health. Who ever saw a woman racked with pain, struggling with weakness or disease, who could be called beautiful? The woman of today in this high-strung nervous age is continually overdoing, with the result that ill-penular to her sex develop which, unchecked, will ruin all chances for her happiness. The natural restorative for such ailments is Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which for more than forty years has been recognized as a standard remedy for women's ills and has done much to relieve pain and restore good health to women.

The hilly Eifel region of Germany has many extinct volcanoes.

TO WARN FARMERS OF FROST.

Washington. — The United States Weather Bureau will soon advise farmers how to protect their orchards from frosts.

This is a new item contained in the agricultural appropriation bill for the next fiscal year. Fruit growers suffer enormous losses annually from frost damage which can be avoided through heating and other protective measures. If they have reliable frost predictions and information as to minimum temperatures which may be expected, the Weather Bureau is the only source from which such information can be obtained. So the enterprising Republicans on the agricultural committee have gotten together and put one over to the farmers.

Another sum voted is for the inauguration of research work in connection with brown rot and kindred diseases of peach trees, which cause large losses annually to peach growers. Still another is for the eradication of the white pine blister rust while hatack currants and gooseberries. Potato diseases, like mosaic and leafroll, which affect the quality of food potatoes grown for interstate shipment and potato decay which cause heavy losses in shipments arriving in large markets from southern and western sources will also be investigated.

Eskimos gorge themselves on berries during the season when these small fruits are ripe.

Algeria, France's most important colony, has a greater area than the mother country.

The United States consumes annually about 250,000 tons of sugar in confectionery.

Wilder tribes of Beloukhia either practice sun worship or have no religion.

Turkish authority has never been actually and fully recognized by Arabs.

DON'T MISTAKE THE CAUSE

Many Maysville People Have Kidney Trouble And Do Not Know It.

Do you have backache? Are you tired and worn out? Feel dizzy, nervous and depressed? Are the kidney secretions irregular? Highly colored; contain sediment? Likely your kidneys are at fault. Weak kidneys give warning of distress.

Heed the warning; don't delay—Use a tested kidney remedy. Read this Maysville testimony. Bryan Greenlee, proprietor grocery store, 238 West Third street, says: "About two years ago I had an attack of kidney trouble and I suffered a lot from backache. There was a deep seated pain across the center of my back. I was repairing machinery at that time and when doing any kind of stooping work I could hardly straighten up. My kidneys were not acting regularly and in other ways showed signs of disorder. I went to Wood & Son's Drug Store and got a box of Doan's Kidney Pills and began using them. They fixed me up in good shape and I have never been bothered since." Price 60 cents, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Greenlee had. The first half ended with the score at 23 to 17 in favor of the Kentuckians. "Bo" McMillin, captain of the foot ball team that came to the Stadium last fall and went back defeated by the Harvard eleven, played at right forward Monday night and scored two goals from the floor.

FORMER SENATOR THOS. H. PAYNTER DIES AT FRANKFORT

Former U. S. Senator and Ex-Congressman From Ninth District Was Native of Lewis County.

Former United States Senator Thomas H. Paynter, 69 years old, died at his home at Frankfort Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock after a lingering illness. Not long ago he underwent an operation to restore his health, but after a temporary improvement it gradually declined and for ten days no hope had been entertained for his recovery.

Senator Paynter was active in public life for thirty years, serving successively as County Attorney of Greenup, Congressman, Appellate Judge, Chief Justice and United States Senator.

He was a native of Lewis County, and a life long Democrat. He was graduated from Centre College, and went to Greenup when 21 years old and engaged in the practice of law.

Appointed County Attorney to fill a vacancy, he carried the county for the office at the succeeding election, although the county was Republican. This brought him to the notice of district leaders and he was nominated and elected to Congress in the Ninth District, by a few hundred votes. He won his second term by 5,000 and two years later, in a Presidential year, he carried this district by 3,000.

After six years in Congress he was elected to the Appellate Bench from the Sixth District, served out his full term, during which he presided one year as Chief Justice, and was re-elected.

In the midst of his second term he was called on unexpectedly as a candidate of the Beckham faction to oppose Senator Joe Blackburn before the Democratic Legislative caucus in 1907. He was elected and served one term, retiring in 1912. Since that time he had been engaged in the practice of the law.

Senator Paynter is survived by his wife, Mrs. Elizabeth Pollock Paynter, and two children, Mrs. Morton K. Yonks, Louisville, and Pollock Paynter, of Frankfort.

His wife was a daughter of Joseph Pollock, for many years a banker at

COVINGTON VOTE ENDING
COMMISSION RULE VOIDED.

Frankfort, Ky., March 9.—The election in which the people of Covington cast a majority of their votes in favor of abolishing the commission form of government and returning to the old method of municipal organization, was not advertised, as the law requires in order to give proper public notice, the Court of Appeals said today in an opinion by Judge Sammons, holding the election invalid. Suit was filed to enjoin the clerk from certifying returns in the election. The Kenton Circuit Court decided in favor of the validity of the election, but was reversed.

"MY SOLDIER GIRL" PRESENTS
NOVEL STAGE SETTINGS.

When the new version of the musical spectacle, "My Soldier Girl" the supreme success of all the season's offerings, is presented at the Washington Opera House, Friday night, March 11th, theatergoers will readily appreciate why this new play was a hit from the first performance. The novel settings are in two acts—the opening scene is laid at Colonel Stone's home, Miami, Florida, where a lawn fete is arranged for the boys and girls whom the colonel met while "overseas" in the interest of the Red Cross, banks of flowers and lights form the background of a beautiful picture and a night of gayety, song, dance and music form a brilliant spectacle.

The last act presents a gorgeous stage setting for a Follies production, linking bright lines and novel electrical effects together for a picture in which a brilliant "pony" ballet and excellent cast wear smart costumes and wind their way through novel drills and dance ensembles. Nothing prettier in the pictureland of the stage has been done in years than is offered in this new musical play.

KRONSTADT IS BEING BURNED.

Copenhagen, March 9. — The latest Helsingfors dispatches report that the Soviet government forces have recaptured the fortress of Kronstadt, and are training the big guns of these fortresses upon Kronstadt, where fires were observed.

An infantry assault by the Soviet troops upon Kronstadt is reported to have been repulsed with enormous losses to the attacking forces.

KENTUCKY MINISTER APPEALS THREE-YEAR PRISON SENTENCE

Cincinnati, Ohio, March 9. — Appeal from sentences of three years each in Federal penitentiary has been filed in United States Circuit Court of Appeals here by the Reverend J. C. Balloy, Goose Creek, Knox county, Kentucky. The sentences were imposed by Judge A. M. J. Cochran, Covington, last November, following conviction under an indictment charging assault upon officers, December 3, 1918.

The Federal officers were on a hunt for illicit stills at the time of the assault, it was testified.
